

Pair Bonding based on NIMBioS "Family Values" study) Kent Agee

in early human evolution all the girls were known for doin' it with any able fella who came by but then the ladies got together and decided it was better if they saved it for one real deserving guy a guy who made her life a little sweeter a mate who really wanted to provide that faithless alpha male was just a cheater now she wanted someone nice to treat her right....(so we got)...

pair bonding, pair bonding it started with one hairy boy and girl
pair bonding, pair bonding now we're doing it all around the world providing lead to long relations and you could almost smell civilization ... in the air....and it all came from pair...bonding

So when those losers down the ladder, figured out a girl was flattered if they brought her stuff and hung around her door they shared their food and gave protection, and then finally affection to convince her he was who she'd waited for so you see, women choosing caused a revolution a caring, lesser male could win a wife and that led to the modern family institution now couples don't just mate, they mate for life (and that's called)

(chorus)

all that male to male conflict just wasted energy and time so faithful females found a way to redirect their mind ...to
